

Nashville's Collier Roofing Recipient of Carlisle SynTec 2011 Perfection Award

March 31, 2011

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – Collier Roofing of Nashville has been named the 2011 recipient of the Carlisle SynTec 2011 Perfection Award.

The Perfection Award is determined by historical installation quality metrics and recognizes only Carlisle's most dedicated and quality-minded contractors. An installer must be in Carlisle's top 5 percent to qualify for this award.

"Carlisle SynTec is pleased to recognize Collier Roofing's commitment to quality with this Perfection Award," said Nick Shears, Carlisle's vice president of sales and marketing. "We greatly value the company's pursuit of excellence and perfection on each and every installation." Jerry and Yvonne Collier of Joelton, Tenn., and their son, Eric Collier of Ashland City, Tenn., who own and operate Collier Roofing, are pleased to be singled out by this national roofing product manufacturer. This honor follows closely on their designation as the 2010 Contractor of the Year for Commercial Roofing in the November 2010 issue of Roofing Contractor magazine.

"We dedicate ourselves to always doing the right thing for our customers, our employees, our vendors and even our competitors," states company President, Yvonne Collier. "This company-wide focus results in customer satisfaction which translates into being a sales leader. This award is in recognition of the efforts of our entire team."

With over 40 employees and more than $5 million in revenue, Collier Roofing is the largest woman-owned minority commercial and industrial roofing contractor in Tennessee. The company, which specializes in commercial and industrial roofing, has been listed by the Nashville Business Journal among the 25 largest woman-owned businesses in the Nashville market every year since 2003. The company's focus on quality workmanship and customer satisfaction can be attributed to many factors, including: attention to detail; average employee tenure (17 years); low worker's comp; MOD Rating resulting from extensive employee training; and customer service including daily job updates and onsite web-cam oversight dedicated project teams

"We like to say, 'any installer can install a roof for less, not every installer can install a roof right,'" said company president, Yvonne Collier.

Collier Roofing is a family-run, woman-owned, minority business based in Nashville, Tenn. The company has created a niche throughout the Tennessee and Kentucky roofing markets by undertaking complicated jobs others won't. Categories of the types of businesses for whom they surface roofs include: Industrial, Manufacturing, Institutional, Healthcare, Retail, Financial, Educational, Government and Historic.
