Company with local ties wins award

A Nashville roofing company owned by a Maury County native was named "Contractor of the Year for Commercial Roofing" by Roofing Contractor magazine. Collier Roofing of Nashville, owned by Williamsport native Jerry Collier along with his wife Yvonne, received the designation in the magazine's November issue.

In Maury County, the company has worked on projects including the YMCA, Bank of America, Columbia State University, Tennessee Army National Guard Recruiting Office and the U.S. Post Office.
